Halloween Safety

Halloween is exciting for families, but it can be a little spooky for pets. Keep them safe with these simple tips:

- No candy for pets – Chocolate, xylitol, and many sweets are toxic, so keep candy bowls out of reach.
- Pick safe costumes – Outfits should be comfortable, non-restrictive, and free of chewable parts.
- Decor – Use battery candles and keep cords, cobwebs, and small items away from pets.
- Quiet time – Trick-or-treaters and doorbells can cause overwhelm, so give pets a cozy space away from the action.
- ID matters – With doors opening often, make sure pets have up-to-date tags.

A few precautions help ensure Halloween is fun and safe for everyone!

October Fun

Crisp days are perfect for extra-long walks, hikes, or playing in the leaves. Don't forget to pause and let your pup sniff around—fall brings plenty of new scents and sights for curious noses to explore. Just remember to bring water along, keep an eye out for acorns or mushrooms that pets shouldn't eat, and maybe snap a few photos of your adventures to capture the season's magic! Fresh air and exercise keep you AND your pets happy and healthy this season!

Pumpkin

Pumpkin isn't just a fall favorite for people—it's a superfood for dogs, too! Packed with fiber, vitamins, and antioxidants, pumpkin can support healthy digestion, help regulate weight, and even promote a shiny coat. Many pups love its naturally sweet flavor, making it both tasty and beneficial. At Brookwood, we use pumpkin as one of the wholesome ingredients in our special treats, blending it with other dog-safe foods to create snacks that are as nutritious as they are delicious. It's just one of the ways we add a seasonal, healthy boost to your dog's day!
